

IS PRESIDENT BUSH A MAN OF HIS WORD?

“Concerns over the hazards of PCBs... are based on solid scientific information. These pollutants are linked to developmental defects, cancer and other grave problems in humans and animals. The risks are great, and the need for action is clear. We must work to eliminate, or at least to severely restrict the release of these toxins without delay.”

– President George W. Bush
The White House, April 19, 2001
Ceremony announcing support for the Persistent Organic Pollutants international treaty

President Bush supports a treaty to eliminate PCBs around the world.

He should support the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) plan to make GE clean up the Hudson River.

GE dumped PCB's in the Hudson River for years. And now, after a decade of investigation and research, the EPA has spoken: GE, clean it up. GE is fighting hard to avoid responsibility for the clean up.

www.CleanUpGE.org

Citizens to Cleanup GE: A project of Essential Information
P.O. Box 19405, Washington, D.C. 20036

Paid for by the Florence Fund, P.O. Box 53303, Washington, DC, 20009

PRESIDENT BUSH: NO MORE DELAYS.

GE CEO JACK WELCH: DO THE RIGHT THING.
CLEAN UP YOUR MESS
IN THE HUDSON.

Follow the EPA's plan. GE must clean up the Hudson now.